Truth Squad

The Republican "Truth Squad" came to Lexington Wednesday night and said that George Wallace cannot win the presidential election but might throw it into the House of Representatives. Speaking to newsmen at the Phoenix Hotel, the squad (left to right: Sen. Paul Fannin, Ariz.; Gov. John Love, Colo.; Rep. Robert Taft, Ohio and Rep. Glenn Davis, Wis.) said that their job was to "smoke out" Hubert Humphrey on the issues. (Story on Page 4)

CJ Lists Six

Albright, Haywood Named Candidates

EDITOR'S NOTE: In order not to jeopardize the selection of a new president for the University, the Kernel deliberately has not sought to make known persons being considered for the position. We only use the story now because the Louisville Courier-Journal has listed names and we feel the responsibility to keep our readers informed since the story has been made public as of this morning.

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Three men now serving as vice presidents of universities in other states are among the six still being considered for the University of Kentucky presidency, The Courier-Journal said in its Thursday morning edition.

The newspaper quoted "campus sources" in Lexington and listed these final six:

Dr. Charles Bishop, 47, a Kentuckian, now serving as vice president of the University of North Carolina; Dr. Robert LeRoy Clodius, 47, vice president at the University of Wisconsin at Madison; and Dr. Otis A. Singletary Jr., 47, vice president of the University of Texas system.

Also listed were Dr. A. D. Albright, 55, executive vice president at UK; Dr. Charles F. Haywood, 41, dean of the UK College of Business and Economics, and Dr. Ivan L. Bennett Jr., a pathologist on leave from Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore serving as deputy director of the White House office of science and technology.

A three-man committee is screening candidates for the presidency. Its chairman, Dr. Ralph Angelucci, could not be reached for comment Wednesday night.

However, he had previously acknowledged that the field of prospects had been narrowed to six.

BSU-SG Battle Shapes Up On 'Dixie' Bill

By GUY MENDES
Associate Editor

BSU vs SC.

That's the way it shapes up for tonight, with the Black Student Union planning to confront Student Government on the "Dixie" issue—the current debate on campus concerning the playing of "Dixie" at University events.

In its meeting Wednesday night, the BSU decided to attend tonight's SG meeting en masse and present its arguments against playing the song to Student Government, which last week sent a bill to committee requesting that "Dixie" be played.

There was an attempt to bottle up the bill in committee, but it was moved to the floor of the assembly by a narrow 3-2 vote on Monday. It is scheduled to be acted upon at tonight's meeting.

Though Speaker of the Assembly Steve Bright—who sponsored the "Dixie" bill—said he thought the BSU would be able to express its opinion, there is doubt as to whether it will be granted the floor.

One objection can stop such a move, and according to several SC representatives, some of the Greek members of SC feel so strongly about the issue that they will not let the BSU speak.

Discussion on "Dixie" injected excitement into the otherwise routine BSU meeting. As one Black put it, "They have to decide whether they want a fight song or a fight."

A long list of arguments was drawn up. Some of those were:

► The song has racial overtones—"It's not the lyrics, it's the connotations behind them."

► White students use the song to antagonize black students—"It usually encourages further insults."

► Standing for "Dixie" puts it on the same level as the National Anthem—"It's just a song, not some sort of blessed thing."

► "Dixie" has become a theme song for George Wallace—"If we had a song like 'Burn, Baby, Burn,' don't you think they'd abolish it?"

► What relation does "I wish

I was in Dixie" have with winning a game?—"Well, down in 'Dixie' they WERE winning," one BSU member cracked.

According to Bright, the bill should pass easily. "The only problem was in getting it out of committee," he said.

The committee, in passing the bill, made some minor changes.

Two clauses were struck. One said, "WHEREAS the lyrics of 'Dixie' do not include any language directed in a derogatory or offensive manner toward any race, religion or creed . . ."

The other stated, "WHEREAS the playing of 'Dixie' be played at athletic events is desired by an overwhelming majority of the students, alumni and supporters of the University . . ."

As it now stands, the bill merely requests that the song be played because it "has been a tradition."

Free U. Teaches Ethnomusicology

By DEBBIE TASSIE
Kernel Staff Writer

Tenuous single notes, a shrill slide, pluck a string and jump back. The next person tries a chord, a discordant non-chord. "Each person brings his own idea of how to play the instrument."

Progress to trills, droning, strumming, tapping on it. "As every succeeding person plays the instrument, we see a little more of the pattern." Look at the girl next to you, know she is holding the instrument upside down. "There's no right way or wrong way."

Finally it has fulfilled the circle. The group—in the form of the final person—is playing a near-melody of chords with a single changing note. The instrument is discovered to be a dulcimer.

Bob Ladner, graduate student in Sociology, directed the group of about twenty people experiencing "Ethnomusicology," a course of the Free U. to communicate a feeling with the instrument handed them.

The purpose was to teach that unless you know the rules of music, you can't communicate with it. After it had passed from person to person, hand to hand, Ladner quietly said, "We have been through practically the gamut of primitive music."

After reducing everyone to discovered naivete, Ladner talked about the place of interpretation in music. "We interpret some structures as sadness . . . B flat is sexy because it has been used in blues so much."

The group attempted to define music's reason for being. The con-

Wallace To Pick Running Mate; LeMay Expected To Be Named

George C. Wallace, American Independent Party presidential candidate, announced during a Wednesday campaign tour through the Mid-West that he would name his running mate at a Thursday morning press conference.

The expected choice of Wallace is retired Air Force General Curtis LeMay. This speculation was strengthened by a report that LeMay had boarded a nonstop flight from his home in Los Angeles to Pittsburgh.

Former Kentucky Gov. A.B.

Chandler, the reported first choice of Wallace for vice president, declined to comment on the possibility of General LeMay being named to the post.

When questioned about the naming of LeMay to the Wallace ticket, Chandler said, "I don't wish to be interviewed by the Kernel staff."

Chandler, a UK trustee, indicated his Kernel-directed ire was a result of an editorial that appeared in the Kernel concerning comments made by Chandler in an interview with Earl Ruby (Courier-Journal sportswriter).

Ruby's article indicated that Chandler's prime concern at UK was for a "strong, winning athletic program." Later a Kernel editorial condemned such a viewpoint as being improper in an academic community.

Chandler termed the quotes attributed to him as "utterly ridiculous" distortions of his words. He commented that the Kernel should have checked with him before accepting Ruby's report as factual.

Ethno— What???

The Free University of Central Kentucky conducted a class in "Ethnomusicology" Wednesday night. Bob Ladner (with dulcimer) directed the class in which each student brought his own ideas and communicated his own feelings with the instrument.

Students Communicate Feeling With Music

clusion—"it is mood reinforcement."

Ladner instructed however that "In our society, the manifest function of music is entertainment. The latent function is anything it does."

Music has structure in its form, content in the manifested phenomena, a necessary part of regularity, a function. Such was part one of the lesson.

"Ethnomusicology is primarily the anthropology of music," Ladner continued that "The behavioral sciences have neglected art forms so long that they are in danger of losing their relevance to this part of our culture."

Part two of the lesson was an interpretation of the evolution of popular music, beginning with the pop music of the '50's. Ladner defined its effect as sensual, an arousal.

The rise of folk music brought out an honesty that didn't exist in rock. Folk music gave fulfillment to something started by rock. Its goal was communication.

The Bob Dylan type music that followed shifted the focus from structure in music to content. With the advent of Dylan, one had to begin thinking about what he was hearing. The message superseded the medium.

The disruption that the Beatles brought marked the moment when the medium caught up to the message. Lennon and McCartney began doing unusual things with a guitar. Sgt. Pepper was the attainment of a pinnacle, "a wedding of form and content for which there was no encore."

Now—acid rock—Mothers of Invention, the Fugs—musical anarchy. Music expresses itself in non-patterns. All rules are no longer in effect. Vibrations and blow your mind.

'Truth Squad' Visits Lexington; Says Wallace Can't Win

By CHARLES BOWEN
Kernel Staff Writer

The Republican "truth squad," bearing buttons and banners for the Nixon-Agnew ticket, told newsmen Wednesday night Alabaman George Wallace has "no possible chance of winning" the presidential race.

The four Republicans—Rep. Robert Taft, Ohio; Rep. Glenn Davis, Wis.; Gov. John Love, Colo. and Sen. Paul Fannin, Ariz.—said that 60 percent of the people in the nation want to vote against the present administration. "But a vote for Wallace," said Taft, "is giving the election to Hubert Humphrey."

Although they were convinced Wallace could not win in November, Love said the third party candidate could make it difficult for any candidate to gain a majority of votes, throwing the race to the House of Representatives.

"We believe Nixon can win a majority in the House," Love added.

Davis told a questioner Wallace's strength could not be accurately estimated by the number of state ballots on which he has secured his name or the number of petitions signed because "it only takes a few hundred people to get a name on the ballot in most states."

In answer to a question, Taft said Nixon would enter a television debate with Humphrey, but not one including Wallace.

"Traditionally, this country has had a two party system . . . Nixon feels, and justly we think, that the Republican party has no obligation to provide a platform that might help develop a third party in the nation."

Fannin said the primary function of the truth squad is "to smoke out Humphrey and find out what issues he agrees with Lyndon Johnson on, and what ones he doesn't."

He said Humphrey had misrepresented the Eisenhower Administration concerning unemployment statistics.

"The Republican party came into power (in 1953) in wartime, and went out in peace. The Democratic party came into peacetime and will presumably leave in wartime . . . It is tragic that it would take war to create jobs."

Davis said he was disturbed with the vice president's talking about gains for the working man. "He doesn't tell you what has happened to the buying dollar. He won't tell you how the purchasing power of the dollar has reduced under the Democratic Administration."

The truth squad denied the existence of any agreement between Nixon and Humphrey to avoid debate on the Vietnam issue as long as the Paris peace talks were continuing. However, the group was critical of Humphrey's statement that he would halt bombing in Vietnam "at any sign—direct or indirect"—of Hanoi's "willingness to restore the demilitarized zone."

'Bloodiest Battle Yet' In Mexico City Kills 25 Persons

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The bloodiest battle yet of Mexico City's student rebellion raged through the night after a rifle shot touched off a thunderous crossfire between snipers and army troops at the crowded site of an antigovernment rally Wednesday.

Police and hospitals reported 25 persons killed, although at 1 a.m. a spokesman said the government's estimate was that 20 persons were killed and 75 wounded.

Estimates of those on the scene were that more than 100 were wounded and a check of three of Mexico City's hospitals showed 72 injured had been treated.

The International Olympic Committee called a meeting today to discuss the violence and its possible effect on the 1968 summer games, scheduled to open in the Mexican capital in nine days.

The government spokesman, presidential press secretary Fernando Garza, said of the Olympics: "There is no danger. All necessary precautions have been taken."

He said the fighting began when "one group of students began firing at another." He added: "The end has come to this group of militant students. A cleaning out has been made already."

Firing in the area of the Plaza of the Three Cultures near downtown continued sporadically into the early morning hours. Soldiers said the main pockets of student resistance were two buildings in the adjoining Tlatelolco apartment district.

An editor for the newspaper El Universal said his reporters told him of soldiers finding 20 bodies in upper stories of the Social Security Hospital, where snipers had been seen firing.

Gen. Marcelino Garcia Barragan, the defense secretary, said he had orders to crush the student uprising at any cost.

One newsman said hundreds of persons were lying in the plaza after the first volley of gunfire.

Throughout the evening, snipers with automatic weapons fired from apartment windows and troops brought armored cars into the battle and poured machine-gun fire back into the high-rise buildings. The troops began clearing out the buildings about four hours after the battle began.

Humphrey Defeat Might Bring End To Democratic Party In Kentucky

Jack Reeves, a retired UK professor, said Wednesday night if Hubert Humphrey fails to win if Kentucky in the upcoming election and also fails to capture second place, his defeat will bring the end of the Democratic party in the state.

Speaking to more than 30 members of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, Reeves, a delegate to the Democratic convention in Chicago, said he supported Humphrey as "the man whose views are most like (Sen. Eugene McCarthy's)." "Every voter has the right, of course, to refrain from voting if he chooses," Reeves said, "but Americans must learn to compromise on the qualifications of candidates."

"Until middle class white voters are educated enough to understand politics and government, we won't get ideal candidates," he said.

Everybody should collect something.

We collect dust.

We also collect graduates—with technical and semi-technical degrees—to insure our position as the world's largest manufacturer of air filters and a leading producer of air pollution control equipment.

Today, some 300 engineers are busy selling, designing, developing, researching and producing AAF's products. They are designed for environmental control in a complete range of installations—from office buildings, restaurants, hospitals, schools, auditoriums and stores to manufacturing plants, steel and textile mills, food processing and pharmaceutical plants.

In addition to the collected dust mentioned above, we also collect smoke and fumes and mists—all the airborne contaminants that cause troublesome pollution problems. We also heat, ventilate and cool thousands of the nation's schools, as well as offices, motels, hotels, hospitals and factories.

Your future in "Better Air" is bright. We would like to talk to you about it. Contact your placement office and arrange for an interview October 10.

Fashion Notes
Written Especially for Meyers

By JUDY WALDEN

For those back on campus... there is a fashion requirement... Her knits must feature that hand-knit look... and be patterned... Don't say you weren't warned.

The importance of leathers cannot be under-estimated... but wild leather... CUIR SAUVAGE... makes up the BIG news... It's the natural leather complete with imperfections... It looks mottled... and it's great.

Fall and Winter '68 will be hailed as the year of classic fashion and chic... It's down with the Kook kick, and up with taste and breeding.

Don't resist buying that suede trim dress or suit... Your local dry cleaners will be able to do the job when it becomes necessary.

Remember, fashion is your best SOCIAL security, and you'll discover your own world in "the Group" at Meyers... a shop for young fashionables, on the second floor.

UK Wins Second Straight National Safety Award

As a result of the aid and supervision of the Safety Department, the University of Kentucky will, for the second straight year, receive the National College and University Safety Award. The Award, the highest one of its type given by the National Safety Council, will be presented on October 29, in Chicago.

In competition with other colleges and universities across the nation, UK showed superior safety conditions and accident prevention methods.

Only in its third year of existence, the Safety Department, a function of the Safety and Security Division, has earned an award every year. In 1966, the department received the National Award of Merit, the second highest award given by the N.S.C., and in 1967, the highest award was first received.

UN Day Topic Will Be Four Corners Of World

The four corners of the world will be the foci of attention when UN Day opens on Oct. 24.

In a show lasting about 30 to 40 minutes, acts representing Latin America, the Middle East, the Far East, Africa, and the Pacific (in which the U.S. will be included) will be seen.

It was suggested at the meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club (which is sponsoring the day), Monday night in the Student Center, that the topic for the panel discussion be concerned with functions of the UN as viewed from different disciplines.
